LEGION[®]

MADE IN THE USA

Combining beauty and durability, the legendary Legion Cookware has been preferred by the world's great chefs for over a century. Uniquely manufactured using a "sandwich" of metals, we layer carbon steel between 18-8 stainless steel for ideal heat transference - heating each pot or pan evenly and quickly across the entire cooking surface.

The long, heavy gauge stainless steel handles remain cool and are not affected by magnetic induction.

Our InductoWare® is beautifully finished in either brushed satin or mirror polish for use with magnetic inducting heating devices – Induction cooking.

Choose the exquisite CopperWare™ for dramatic tableside presentations. Legion CopperWare™ features the same "sandwich" of metals plus a hard-wearing layer of copper that imparts its own warm elegance. The copper finish is also available brushed or mirror polished and, as an added benefit, the copper plating is extremely effective in transferring heat to the food product.

Explore the wide variety of styles and sizes available for both Induction and traditional cooking. Call us for information on the availability of other metal configurations, such as one-ply or two-ply.

Nothing compares to the beauty and elegance of Legion Cookware.

Information about all Legion's products as well as the newest innovative products are always available at the website, www.legionindustries.com or for personal attention call 800-887-1988. For online shopping or browsing please visit our online store at www.legionstore.com

Legion Cookware

InductoWare® CopperWare™

The InductoWare® cookware features a magnetic inner core for use on conventional and induction ranges. The cooking surface is hand-polished stainless steel that will not react with food. All three layers are bonded together for optimum heat conductivity. The long, stay-cool handles and non-corrosive rivets are made of gleaming stainless. InductoWare® cookware is dishwasher safe.

For more than 60 years, Legion has provided the finest chefs and "serious" cooking enthusiasts with the ultimate stainless and copper cookware. If you are looking for the ultimate cooking tool that will last for generations, then there is only one choice - Legion InductoWare® or Legion CopperWare™.

Visit our online store at www.legionstore.com

The CopperWare™ cookware features an extra-thick copper exterior. The cooking surface is hand-polished stainless steel that will not react with food. The inner core is cast iron not just at the bottom, but all the way up the sides. The long, stay-cool handles and non-corrosive rivets are made of gleaming stainless. To maintain its appearance, it is best not to put CopperWare™ in the dishwasher.

Highly polished cookware is undeniably beautiful, but it is very difficult to maintain. Legion's brushed finish is also beautiful, yet it is much easier to maintain. In appearance, it immediately evokes a professional or industrial quality that is consistent with its development as a professional cooking "tool" - practicality over aesthetic excess.
